Product Description

Balance is very important for child development. In addition to the sense of balance and body awareness, coordination and concentration are promoted. With the new balance rocker playfully balancing skills and locomotion can be trained through the transfer of body weight from one leg to the other. Children can either practice on the two treads with non-slip pads to keep the balance, or turned over to balance on it.

The balance board rocker allows children to practise balancing skills, and this works by building leg muscle strength and concentration.

Designed with built-in safety treads to avoid slipping, the balance board rocker provides a safe and fun way to practice balancing skills.
