Product Description

Finger brush Silicone finger brush textured with tiny 2mm massaging nubs, used for gums massage during teething and as your child's first brush. In the speech therapy it is used for various forms of massage, including sensory massage. Massaging with INFADENT has long been successfully recommended by American therapists to the parents whose children have problems with tongue lateralization. Massage the front part of the tongue with circular movements, with light pressure.

After the tongue massage, move the touch for a while onto the palate (roller gingival).
