Product Description

Game to learn the sequence of dress and strengthen a habit of autonomy.

A game for learning about the sequence of getting dressed in each of the four seasons of the year.

- Up to 4 CHILDREN can play.

- Equipped with a double self-correcting system: numbers on the back to verify that the order of the sequences is right and a five-colour band to check that the association of the cards has been done correctly.

(1) The four sequences are separated depending on the colour of the border.

(2) The large cards are arranged in a sequence.

(3) Look on the back of the cards to see if the order is right and then turn the cards around again so they are face down.

(4) Join up the small cards with the bottom of the large cards to associate the garments that each child is wearing.

(5) Check that the association is correct by using the five colour-way self-correcting system.
